We are looking for artists to join our team and contribute to the Sainsbury Centre Learning programmes. Artists are central to the delivery of projects and workshops across the Centre. We are looking to recruit artists working in any media who:

- Enjoy working with people
- Have an on-going arts practice
- Are able to create an environment where people feel they can express their ideas
- Have a collaborative approach to planning and delivery
- Are excellent communicators and listeners
- Have an interest and enthusiasm for working with world art collections and exhibitions
- Have an in-depth understanding of the creative process and a high level of skill in a specialist area
- Are able to make reference to broader contexts (for example to the work of other artists or participatory practices)

We are interested to hear from artists who already have experience and also from those keen to develop expertise and skills in building relationships between art, people and ideas.
